The Tokyo One-Stop Business Establishment Center is a center jointly operated by the Japanese government and the Tokyo Metropolitan Government. The center unifies the procedures that foreign companies and startups need to complete to establish a business, providing assistance for the prompt completion of various filing procedures, including those for certification of articles of incorporation, company registration, taxes, social security, and immigration. Staff members versed in administrative procedures provide consultations for free, and interpretation and translation services in multiple languages are also provided as needed. Over 2,500 people have used the center's services to date, and the number of applications to establish business is growing. Please come to the information session if you are thinking about setting up business in Tokyo.

Tokyo One-Stop Business Establishment Center Case Studies

I am thinking about setting up a company in Tokyo and would like to know what kinds of procedures are necessary. To start my own business, I think I will have to change my visa from a working visa to a business manager visa. I would like to know about this in detail. (China, individual)

My company, which is based in the UK, is planning to set up a new base in Japan, and we are considering two options for establishment: subsidiary or branch office. I would like to know about the overall procedures for both. (UK, retailer)
